

Steve Yeh

Ph.D. Candidate @ Columbia University
Department of Economics
New York City, NY

Phone: (631) 992-0841
Email: sy3012@columbia.edu

Education

Ph.D. in Economics, Columbia University, 2021-Present.

B.A. in Economics and Mathematics (Concentration in Pure Math), Cornell University, 2017-2021.

Summa Cum Laude in Economics and Magna Cum Laude in Mathematics, Distinction in All Subjects.

Thesis (Economics) : "Costly Monitoring and Moore Machines in the Repeated Prisoner's Dilemma"

Minors: Computer Science and Law & Society

Works-in-Progress

Network Formation with Incomplete Information.

Optimal Task Assignments.

Costly Monitoring in Repeated Games with Finite Automata.

Teaching

Teaching Assistant, Microeconomic Analysis II (MA Course), Spring 2024.

Teaching Assistant, Principles of Economics, Fall 2023, Teaching Evaluation: 5.0/5.0.

Teaching Assistant, Microeconomics (MPA Course), Summer 2023, Teaching Evaluation: 5.0/5.0.

Teaching Assistant, Intermediate Microeconomics, Spring 2023. Teaching Evaluation: 4.5/5.0

Teaching Assistant, Microeconomic Analysis I (MA Course), Fall 2022. Teaching Evaluation: 4.3/5.0.

Instructor for SIPA Math Camp, Summer 2022, Summer 2023.

Scholarships & Fellowships

Dean's Fellowship, Columbia University, 2021- Present.

Harriss Award for Best 2nd-Year Paper Runner-Up, Columbia University, 2023.

Uri M. Possen Memorial Award for Best Undergraduate Honors Thesis, Cornell University, 2021.

New York State Scholarship for Academic Excellence, New York State, 2017- 2021.

Research Interests

Networks, Microeconomic Theory.

Skills

ArcGIS Pro, Git, Java, Julia, \LaTeX , Matlab, OCaml, PySpark, Python, SQL, Stata.

English (native), Hakkanese (native), Mandarin (proficient), Spanish (intermediate).

Last updated: February 7, 2024